

Portals and collaboration

Today, collaboration and information management are vital for enterprises to demonstrate competitive differentiation. Content and collaboration solutions are strongly influenced by digital workplace paradigms such as enterprise social computing, real-time collaboration and consumerization of IT. Dynamic business needs and strategies demand transformation of these solutions to align to the emerging paradigms.

Mindtree provides a comprehensive and integrated set of service offerings and solutions. Our deep domain and technology expertise enables us to partner with enterprises to help them leverage the full potential of collaboration and information solutions.
