Drive a better ratio of IT dollars spent on innovation rather than run-the-business. Unlock the untapped value within your organization by managing infrastructure and applications in one holistic approach using our unique mWatch tool. And for broader inspiration, take a look at Subroto's recent address at the University of Florida graduation.

COVER STORY

10% reduction in Y-O-Y operating costs in applications and infrastructure

Companies need a unified approach for managing both applications and infrastructure to maintain their competitive edge. We call this holistic approach "applistructure," and it means viewing traditional and cloud applications and infrastructure environments as one completely unified entity.
Ram C. Mohan, Executive VP., Infrastructure Management, speaks on end-to-end infrastructure visibility.
